

About NEDO Project Success Stories

Behind every accomplishment in NEDO's research and development projects is a story of how companies overcame daunting technical challenges to achieve commercialization.

NEDO carries out a post-project evaluation after a project is completed by conducting follow-up monitoring to determine how project results have spread throughout society. Based on the products and services identified in the monitoring, interviews are conducted with related companies, and then the products and services are introduced in NEDO Project Success Stories, which are posted on NEDO's website. NEDO Project Success Stories have introduced more than 100 technology development themes since publication of such stories was started 11 years ago.

◆ This brochure outlines seven new success stories of technology development leading to commercialization.

NEDO's research and development projects aim to enhance the quality of life.
